

In April 2022, Claire Dickson joined Oxford Instruments Magnetic Resonance as an Applications Specialist. She worked on 3D structural determination using NMR spectroscopy during her Ph.D. at the University of Bristol. Her post-doctoral research at the University of Edinburgh focussed on developing pulse sequences for both high- and low-field spectrometers.